PREFACE.

Many years ago the compiler of this record learned that his great-grandfather, Zaccheus Ballord, was a soldier in the Revolutionary War and also in the French and Indian War. This information came from the grand children of Zaccheus, the oldest of whom was but five years old at the time of Zaccheus' death, and he was probably the only one who had any personal recollection of his grandfather. Years later, the record of Zaccheus Ballord, as it stands in the Revolutionary Records of Massachusetts, was obtained upon application to Secretary Olin of that State. In the mean time the writer had gradually accumulated a partial register of the children — grand children and further descendants of Zaccheus to the number of several hundred. This register is embodied in these notes. They might have been much more extensive if all the inquiries for information had been replied to.

As it is, no one realizes more fully than the writer that they are incomplete and not without faults. At first two copies were made of them and then it seemed best for their preservation to put them in book form.

For those interested and those who may come after, for those only, it has been done without price.

E. S. Ballord.

Davenport, Iowa.

SERVICES AS A SOLDIER.

In the last French and Indian war, 1754–60, he was enrolled in Captain Henry Eames' Company of militia of Framingham, April 26th, 1757, Col. Joseph Buckminster's Regiment. At the investment of Fort Wm. Henry, this regiment was quickly on the march for its relief. Tidings that the French did not follow up their advantage, they were ordered home. I find no other mention of their services in this war. Certainly his experience did not prevent him from taking part in the Revolutionary War. He enlisted in Captain Jeremiah Kingsley's Company, Col. Jonathan Holmes' Regiment, in which he served 43 days. He then enlisted for the war from Oxford, Mass., in Col. Shepard's 4th Mass., Capt. Moore's Company. This was in the Continental Army. In it he served from March 5th, 1777, to April 20th, 1780; then was dismissed from service for disability, too soon to be at Yorktown with his regiment and witness the surrender of Cornwallis.

Zaccheus[4] Ballord (William,[3] Nathaniel,[2] William[1]) of Lynn, was born in Framingham, Mass., March 21st, 1730–1 (with his twin brother Timothy, who also was a soldier in the Revolutionary War), died April, 1800. Grave in the Bates burying-ground, Thompson, Conn. A small headstone, with name almost obliterated, was the only marker, until, in 1901, a descendant caused a large boulder to be placed upon the grave and inscribed upon it:

ZACCHEUS BALLORD,
A Soldier of the Revolution,
4th Mass.
1730—1800.
Elizabeth Valentine, his wife.
1739—1807.

FIRST GENERATION.

1. The immigrant ancestor of this family is proved to have been William[1] Ballard who was baptized at Sanford Priors, Warwickshire, Eng., and on August 12, 1603, with his wife Elizabeth, daughter Hester and son Jo. he came on the ship James in 1635, and landed at Boston, Massachusetts, whence he made his way to Saugus, Essex County, Mass., which was later incorporated as Lynn. His estate was on the Boston road, on the west of Saugus river; he was admitted as freeman May 2, 1636, and the same year was a member of the Quarterly Court. His nuncupative will was given the first of the first month, 1641; he gave one half of his estate to his wife and the other half to his children. His wife Elizabeth survived him.

They had children :

2. i. Hester[2] Ballard, who was two years old when her father shipped for New England.
3. ii. John[2] Ballard, who was then one year old.
4. iii. Nathaniel[2] Ballard.
5. iv. William[2] Ballard.

SECOND GENERATION.

4. NATHANIEL[2] BALLARD, son of William[1] and Elizabeth Ballard, was born after his father came to New England; he held the parental estate in Lynn and married, at a time and place unknown, Rebecca ———, who died in Lynn, May 16, 1724; he died there January 12, 1721–2.

They had children, born in Lynn:

6. i. Mary[3] Ballard, born in 1666.
7. ii. Nathaniel[3] Ballard, born in 1670; died in 1672.
8. iii. Susannah[3] Ballard, born in 1673.
9. iv. Elizabeth[3] Ballard, born in 1675.
10. v. Hester[3] Ballard, born in 1677.
11. vi. Sarah[3] Ballard, born in 1681.
12. vii. Abigail[3] Ballard, born in 1683.
13. viii. Jemima[3] Ballard, born in 1683 (twin?).
14. ix. William[3] Ballard, born April 23, 1686.
15. x. Nathaniel[3] Ballard, born ——; died in 1733.

THIRD GENERATION.

14. WILLIAM[3] BALLARD, son of Nathaniel[2] (William[1]) and Rebecca Ballard, was born in Lynn, April 23, 1686. He removed to Framingham, Mass., in 1728. He married (1) —— ———; she died ——; he married (2) October 17, 1721, Deborah Ivory; he died in Framingham, October 8, 1771.

He had children by the first wife :

16. i. William[4] Ballard.
17. ii. Samuel[4] Ballard.

Children by the second wife :

18. iii. Mary[4] Ballard, born July 27, 1722.
19. iv. Nathaniel[4] Ballard, born May 17, 1723.
20. v. Ebenezer[4] Ballard, born August 20, 1724.
21. vi. Stephen[4] Ballard, born March 4, 1725–6.
22. vii. John[4] Ballard, born August 26, 1727.
23. viii. Esther[4] Ballard, born in Framingham, January 17, 1729-30.
24. ix. Timothy[4] Ballard, born in Framingham, March 21, 1730–1.
25. x. Zaccheus[4] Ballard (twin), born in Framingham, March 21, 1730–1.
26. xi. Sylvanus[4] Ballard, born in Framingham, February 10, 1733–4.
27. xii. Joseph[4] Ballard.

FOURTH GENERATION.

25. ZACCHEUS[4] BALLORD, son of William[3] (Nathaniel,[2] William[1]) and Deborah (Ivory) Ballard, was born in Framingham, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, March 21, 1730–31. With his twin brother, Timothy, he changed the spelling of his surname from the type Ballard to Ballord, and many of his children followed his example; his son Lynde adopted this form; but about 1825, the eldest son of Lynde chose to revert to the more ancient form, and his ten brothers and sisters went with him, as did their descendants, until the compiler of this genealogy, a great grandson, reverted to the later method of Ballord as did his family; besides these there were only two or three others who adopted this usage. In Burke's General Armory both forms are given.

Zaccheus[4] Ballord married in Hopkinton, Middlesex County, Mass., in 1758, Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth (Gooch) Valentine; she was born in Hopkinton.

Here we take occasion to correct a mistake in Temple's History of Framingham, which records the maiden name of Zaccheus Ballord's wife as "Elizabeth Clays." Again, in the "Valentines in America," is the statement that Mary Valentine, daughter of Thomas, was the wife of Zaccheus; whereas, it was learned from a personal visit to the Pennsylvanian family of Joseph Ballard that this same Mary married this Joseph of Bradford County whither they removed in 1795–6, and where many of their direct descendants are now residing. The father of these two daughters, Thomas Valentine, was a son of John and Mary (Lynde) Valentine, and Mary Lynde was a grand daughter of Sir Charles Hobby, who was knighted at Windsor Castle in 1705 by Queen Ann for his eminent services rendered in New England where he commanded a Massachusetts regiment at the seige of Port Royal, Annapolis County, Nova Scotia, and later became vice governor of Annapolis City. His portrait, in his official robes, was painted by Sir Peter Lely in 1705 and hangs in the Museum of Fine Arts at Boston. At the expiration of his governorship in Nova Scotia, he returned to Boston, where he revived and was at one time Commander of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company. He sailed for London and died there in 1714. In other lines, Mrs. Elizabeth Ballord was a descendant from the Gooch, Lynde, Newdigate and other prominent Boston families.

After some ten years residence in Framingham, where his farm was adjacent to Shepard's Mills, Zaccheus Ballord migrated to Leicester, Worcester County, Mass.; in 1775, he bought the Crafts Davis farm in the southerly section of the town of Oxford, Worcester County, which was contiguous to the Connecticut boundary line; thereby he was an owner of what was the original homestead lot No. 40 of its first town plat. In 1785, he removed his family to Thompson, Windham County, Connecticut, where he died April, 1800, and his widow married (2), Jonathan Willis, of Thompson; she died there March 26, 1807, and was buried in West Thompson.

Zaccheus and Elizabeth Ballord had children :

28. i. Elizabeth[5] Gooch Ballord, born in Framingham, May 20, 1759; died in Fitzwilliam, N. H., January 15, 1825.

29. ii. William[5] Ballord, born in Framingham, October 26, 1761; died in Vermont in 1791.

30. iii. Sarah[5] Ballord, born in Framingham, January 5, 1764; died in Hume, N. Y., June, 1829.

31. iv. Mary[5] Ballord, born in Framingham, August 8, 1765.

32. v. Mehitable[5] Ballord, born in Framingham, May 31, 1767; married Orrin Bates; died, childless, at Bennington, Vermont.

33. vi. Martha[5] Ballord, born in Framingham, April 14, 1769; died at Cavendish, Vermont, November 30, 1848.

34. vii. Nancy[5] Ballord, born at Leicester, Mass., October 16, 1770; died in Thompson, Conn.

35. viii. Lynde[5] Ballord, born at Oxford, Mass., May 15, 1774.

36. ix. Alice[5] Ballord, born at Oxford, June 23, 1779; died at Thompson, April 24, 1861.

FIFTH GENERATION.

28. Elizabeth[5] Gooch Ballord, daughter of Zaccheus[4] (William,[3] Nathaniel,[2] William[1]) and Elizabeth (Valentine) Ballord, was born at Framingham, Mass., May 20, 1759, married in 1777, Hezekiah, son of Hezekiah (Nathaniel, John, Gregory) and ——— Stone; he was born May 27, 1755; resided at Fitzwilliam, New Hampshire, where he died. She died there January 15, 1825.

They had children :

37. i. Artemas[6] Stone, born April 10, 1778; married Isabel Manning of Fitzwilliam.
38. ii. Salley[6] Stone, baptized October 21, 1781; married Nathaniel Mason, lived at Sullivan, N. H., and had twelve children.
39. iii. Jesse[6] Stone, born February 12, 1783.
40. iv. Moses[6] Stone, who married Elizabeth Fay of Southboro, Mass., and had eight children.
41. v. Betsey[6] Valentine Stone, born January 18, 1789; married December 27, 1810, Martin Stone.
42. vi. Nancy[6] Stone, born April 10, 1791; married Daniel Simonds of Fitzwilliam.
43. vii. Ruth[6] Howe Stone, born Jan. 30, 1793; married Reuben Pratt of Fitzwilliam, and had twelve children.

29. William[5] Ballord, son of Zaccheus (William,[3] Nathaniel,[2] William[1]) and Elizabeth (Valentine) Ballord, was born in Framingham, October 26, 1761, finally removed to some town in Vermont. He married at Framingham, March 7, 1786, Susannah Haven; she was born in Hopkinton, Mass.; he died in Vermont, January 15, 1792; she married (2) John Whitmore, and died in Ohio in 1827.

Children by the first husband :

44. i. William[6] Lynde Ballord, born September 15, 1786 ; married Susannah Baldwin.
45. ii. Nancy[6] Valentine Ballord, born April 27, 1788.
46. iii. Nathan[6] Prentice Ballord, born March 5, 1790.

30. SARAH[5] BALLORD, daughter of Zaccheus[4] (William,[3] Nathaniel,[2] William[1]) and Elizabeth (Valentine) Ballord, was born in Framingham, January 5, 1764. She married, May 29, 1783, Micaiah, son of Silas Robinson; he was born in Dudley, Mass., March 25, 1765. They were Hixite Quakers and made their first home in Dudley, but decided to remove to Hartwick, New York. It being in the winter, an ox sled was prepared with a canvas cover under which was stored their bedding, provisions, three children and themselves; with their cow chained to the rear, taking the precaution to have her "sharp shod" for the better ease in travelling the two hundred miles they must traverse to reach their new homestead, and a yoke of oxen to draw them. They made the journey in two weeks. He died at Hartwick, May 21, 1829, and his widow went to live with her grandson, William R. Mills, dying at his home in Hume, New York, July 16, 1852, and was buried there.

They had children :

47. i. Betsey[6] Robinson, born in Dudley, April 30, 1784.
48. ii. Seth[6] Robinson, born in Dudley, February 6, 1786.
49. iii. Reuben[6] Robinson, born in Dudley, October 18, 1787 ; died unmarried May 18, 1828.
50. iv. Susannah[6] Robinson, born at Dudley, June 1, 1790.
51. v. Lydia[6] Robinson, born September 1, 1792.
52. vi. Silas[6] Robinson, born February 5, 1795.
53. vii. Phœbe[6] Robinson, born March 16, 1797 ; married Seymour Green.
54. viii. Alice[6] Robinson, born September 3, 1799 ; married Rodger Bidwell Mills.
55. ix. Mary[6] Robinson, born April 26, 1804.
56. x. Nancy[6] Robinson, born April 23, 1807.

31 MARY[5] (called in the family Polly) BALLORD, daughter of Zaccheus[4] (William,[3] Nathaniel,[2] William[1]) and Elizabeth (Valentine) Ballord, was born at Framingham, Mass., Aug. 8, 1765. She married Nathaniel, son of Francis Carroll.

They had children :

57. i. Sophia[6] Carroll.
58. ii. Francis[6] Carroll, who married Cynthia Crosby on October 3, 1803, and removed to Fredonia, where he died early.
59. iii. Nathaniel[6] Carroll.
60. iv. Betsey[6] Carroll.
61. v. Polly[5] Carroll, who married February 12, 1809, Phineas Allen of Dudley?
62. vi. William[6] Carroll.
63. vii. Salome[7] Carroll.
64 viii. Solomon[6] Carroll.
65. ix. Daniel[6] Carroll, who died unmarried at the home of his neice, Mrs. Winthrop Hilton Ballard.

33. MARTHA[5] BALLORD, daughter of Zaccheus[4] (William,[3] Nathaniel,[2] William[1]) and Elizabeth (Valentine) Ballord, was born in Framingham, April 14, 1769. She married about 1787 or so, James, son of Obediah and Ruth Bates, in the fifth generation from Clement Bates of Scituate, Mass. He was born ———; they removed to Cavendish, Vermont, and to Proctorville, Vermont; she died at Cavendish, November 30, 1848; he died at Proctorville, July 20, 1833, and they both were buried in the cemetery at Twenty-Mile Stream, Proctorville, where also repose some forty of their descendants.

They had children:

66. i. Betsey[6] Bates, born in Dudley, Mass., June 6, 1790.
67. ii. James[6] Bates, born in Dudley, March 17, 1792.
68. iii. Nancy[6] Bates, born at Sturbridge, Mass., January 21, 1794.
69. iv. Martha[6] Bates, born at Thompson, Conn., July 27, 1796.

70. v. Alice[6] Bates, born at Shutesbury, Mass., July 29, 1798; died at Cavendish, Vermont, June 22, 1820.

71. vi. Zaccheus[6] Bates, born August 2, 1800; married and had a daughter, Alice Bates Skinner of Barton, Vermont; he died at Cavendish, June 30, 1855.

72. vii. Hale[5] Bates, born at Ludlow, Vermont, June 17, 1803; married Sarah Webber; after his father's death, he removed to Schoolcraft, Michigan, and probably after that to Valparaiso, Indiana.

73. viii. Rhoda[6] Bates, born in Cavendish, May 29, 1808; married William Smith; she died August, 1844.

34. NANCY[5] BALLORD, daughter of Zaccheus[4] (William,[3] Nathaniel,[2] William[1]) and Elizabeth (Valentine) Ballord, was born in Framingham, Mass., October 16, 1770. She married Abel, son of John Jacobs, of Thompson. Abel Jacobs was a tavern-keeper in Thompson, where General Washington tarried; in his diary Washington wrote: "The house was well kept; for meat we had fried pork." Lafayette also stopped there. On the decease of Abel, his son Abel junior carried on the house.

They had children:

74. i. Hale[6] Jacobs.

75. ii. Nancy[6] Jacobs.

76. iii. Abel[6] Jacobs.

77. iv. Betsey[6] Jacobs.

35. LYNDE[5] BALLORD, son of Zaccheus[4] (William,[3] Nathaniel,[2] William[1]) and Elizabeth (Valentine) Ballord, was born in Oxford, Worcester County, Mass., May 15, 1774. He was named for his ancestors, Judges Simon and Samuel Lynde. His farm was in Thompson, Conn. Being a private in the town militia, he, during the war with England in 1812, marched twice to the defence of New London, when it was threatened, or thought to have been. He married (1), before 1795, Polly, daughter of John Bates, and a direct descendant from Clement Bates who came from one of the Cinque Ports of England to Hingham, Mass. Through another line, she was a descendant from Isaac Allerton, one of the signers of the Mayflower Compact, who had been called "the father of New England commerce." She was born in Thompson in 1777; died June 22, 1816, and was buried in the Bates burying-ground; he married (2), October 5, 1817, Amy, daughter of William and grand daughter of Salem Green; she was born in Swanzey, Mass., October 13, 1798; died May 28, 1852. He died in Thompson, June 7, 1823, being a little over fifty years of age and the father of eleven children, all but one of whom had a longer life than he, passing away at the respective ages of sixty-one, seventy, seventy-four, ninety-three, ninety-four, ninety, seventy-eight, seventy-five, while two now in life are eighty-one, and eighty-six years old, and his oldest grandchild is in her eightieth year. His children changed to the form Ballard.

SEVEN OF THE CHILDREN OF LYNDE BALLORD. (Taken 1890.)

He had children by his first wife :

78. i. John[6] Bates Ballard, born in Dudley (now Webster), Mass., October 25, 1795.
79. ii. Nancy[6] Ballard, born in Dudley, July 5, 1797.
80. iii. Polly[6] Ballard, born in Dudley, June 29, 1799.
81. iv. Winthrop[6] Hilton Ballard, born in Dudley, March 8, 1801.
82. v. Valentine[6] Ballard, born in Dudley, January 24, 1804.
83. vi. Hamilton[6] Ballard, born in Dudley, May 17, 1806.
84. vii. Martha[6] Ballard, born in Thompson, Conn., February 10, 1809.

Children by the second wife :

85. viii. Sarah[6] Robinson Ballard, born in Thompson, February 27, 1818.
86. ix. Salem[6] Lynde Ballard, born in Thompson, May 8, 1820.
87. x. Zaccheus[6] A. Ballard, born in Thompson, January 21, 1822.
88. xi. Elizabeth[6] Ballard, born in Thompson, March 1, 1825.

The accompanying photograph was taken in 1890 of seven of the children of Lynde Ballord. Their average age was eighty years. Two of them still survive, Mrs. Albertus Bruce of Pomfret Landing, aged 81, and Salem Ballard of Putnum, Conn., aged 86.

36. ALICE[5] BALLORD, daughter of Zaccheus[4] (William,[3] Nathaniel,[2] William[1]) and Elizabeth (Valentine) Ballord, was born at Oxford, Worcester County, Mass., June 23, 1779; resided in Thompson, Conn., where she married (1), April 10, 1799, Joseph, son of Thomas and Dorothy (Davidson) Dike, who was born April 19, 1776; died December 28, 1814; she married (2) John Jacobs and died in Thompson, April 24, 1861.

Children by the first husband :

SIXTH GENERATION.

41. Betsey[6] Valentine Stone, daughter of Hezekiah and Elizabeth[5] Gooch Ballord (Zaccheus,[4] William,[3] Nathaniel,[2] William Ballord[1]) Stone, was born in Fitzwilliam, New Hampshire, January 8, 1789, and married December 27, 1810, Martin Stone. He was born October, 1778. His farm was in Swansey, New Hampshire, where he died October 1, 1851; she died there April 20, 1873.

They had children:

96. i. Louisa[7] Stone, born November 15, 1811; died June 13, 1813.
97. ii. Louisa[7] Stone, born March 9, 1813; married December 4, 1832, Abiel Peroz.
98. iii. Edmund[7] Stone, born April 5, 1815.
99. iv. Elizabeth[7] Stone, born February 24, 1817; married June 3, 1841, C. Peroz, of Peterborough, New Hampshire; she died March 1, 1890.
100. v. John[7] Stone, born February 28, 1819.
101. vi. Ambra[7] Stone, born March 6, 1821; married E. F. Read.
102. vii. Anna[7] Stone (twin), born March 6, 1821; married Joseph L. Parker.
103. viii. Sarah[7] Stone, born April 25, 1823; married Luther Lane.
104. ix. Solon[7] Stone (twin), born April 25, 1823; died June 20, 1825.
105. x. Nancy[7] Stone, born August 6, 1825; died July 17, 1843.
106. xi. Hannah[7] Stone, born November 9, 1827; married Paul F. Aldrich.

44. William[6] Lynde Ballord, son of William[5] (Zaccheus,[4] William,[3] Nathaniel,[2] William[1]) and Susannah (Haven) Ballord, was born in Vermont, September 15, 1786. He was a blacksmith and a farmer. He resided at Dryden, New York, where six of his children were born; went thence in 1824, to Perry, Lake County, Ohio; on July, 1851, they went to Warren, Jo. Davis County, Illinois.

He married, 1809, Susannah Baldwin. She was born in 1795; died at Warren, Illinois, April 16, 1866.

In 1854, there was a rage of cholera in Warren, of which, on July 6, 1854, the father, William Lynde Ballord, died on the same day that his brother Nathan Prentice Ballord died at Ludlow, Vermont. On the eighth of the same month, the wife of Rollins Ballord died, and on the 13th Rollins himself died, all of cholera. Six of William Lynde Ballord's children were with him at the time of his decease, all of mature age.

They had children:

107. i. Susan[7] Ballord, born ———; died in infancy.

108. ii. Sarah Ann[7] Ballord, born February 27, 1815; married John Wright; died in 1875.

He first attended the village schools while his intermediate time was given to work on his father's farm until he was twenty years of age. Soon after that, he taught at Dryden, New York, and at other towns until he had acquired sufficient funds to warrant his taking the course of study at the Baptist Theological Seminary at Hamilton, New York. This

REV. JOHN BATES BALLARD.

Seminary was the beginning of the present Colgate University, and John Bates Ballard's name is on its list of Alumni. He was graduated by this in the class of 1823 and was ordained over a parish at Masonville, New York, in November of the same year; two years later he was called to a church at Dudley, Mass., which is now the Baptist Church of Webster, Mass.; there he preached and organized the first Sunday School ever held in that town. Thence he went to Bloomfield, Conn.; then became an agent for the American Sunday School Union of Philadelphia, where he worked for many years. He succeeded in establishing Sunday Schools in almost every town in North Carolina and many in Kentucky. Later he returned to Connecticut and passed several years in urging the claims of that Society on the churches of that state; still later, he acted as a Tract Missionary in New York City for six years.

He married, May 28, 1824, Augusta Maria, daughter of John and Rachel (Freese) Gilman and a direct descendant from Edmund Gilman of Hingham, Mass. She was born at Gilmantown, New Hampshire, June 26, 1804, died at Colchester, Conn., May 17, 1890; he died at New York City, January 29, 1856, and was buried at Colchester, beside his wife.

They had children:

165. i. Frances Maria[7] Ballard, born in Dudley, Mass., September 19, 1827.

166. ii. Esek Steere[7] Ballard, born in Bloomfield, July 26, 1830.

167. iii. Mary Carolina[7] Ballard, born at Oak Forest, February 28, 1836.

168. iv. Katharine Augusta[7] Ballard, born at Colchester, August 31, 1846.

79. Nancy[6] Ballard, daughter of Lynde[5] (Zaccheus,[4] William,[3] Nathaniel,[2] William[1]) and Polly (Bates) Ballord, was born at Dudley, Mass., July 5, 1797. She married, September 17, 1823, John George; he died January 21, 1885; she died October 5, 1858.

They had children:

169. i. Emery[7] George, born December 10 (20?), 1824, died unmarried, February 13, 1852.
170. ii. John Eaton[7] George, born August 14, 1827, died July 14, 1832.
171. iii. Martha[7] George, born April 14, 1833; married April 27, 1855, S. S. Alton.
172. iv. Andrew[7] George, born July 18, 1840; served as private in the Civil War; died unmarried, August 24, 1877.

80. Polly[6] Ballard, daughter of Lynde[5] (Zaccheus,[4] William,[3] Nathaniel,[2] William[1]) and Polly (Bates) Ballord, was born at Dudley, Mass., June 29, 1799. She married September 30, 1819, Jacob Tourtelotte, a descendant from Abraham Tourtelotte, whose wife was a daughter of Gabriel Bernon, a Huguenot, who escaped from France and came to America and was at Quebec, Canada, whence he was driven for not conforming to the Catholic faith and fled to New England about 1684. His descendants are in New York and Rhode Island. Jacob Tourtelotte owned a farm at Thompson, Conn., on which they resided. Polly Ballord Tourtellotte was a "typical New England matron of the olden time, with more than ordinary force of character, which left its impress on her four stalwart sons." She died at Thompson, August 9, 1875; he died there Oct. 26, 1878, and both are buried in the Holmes Burying Ground.

They had children:

173. i. Augustus Valentine[7] Tourtelotte, born September 10, 1820, died unmarried, October 7, 1872.
174. ii. Munroe Lynde[7] Tourelotte, born July 11, 1823.
175. iii. John Eaton[7] Tourtelotte, born July 3, 1833.
176. iv. Jacob Francis[7] Tourtelotte, born December 26, 1836.

81. Winthrop Hilton[6] Ballard, son of Lynde[5] (Zaccheus,[4] William,[3] Nathaniel,[2] William[1]) and Polly (Bates) Ballord, was born at Dudley, Mass., March 8, 1801. He attended the "district school" and began to teach in the same as early as his nineteenth year, continuing this for nineteen years longer in various district schools and at Bacon Academy. The only boast he ever was known to make was that "when teaching in Thompson, Conn., he received the highest wages, which were thirteen dollars a month, boarding around, that were ever given to any teacher in the town." After ending his career as a teacher, he became a member of the School Board, and remained on that until he was rendered incapable by his extreme age. "He made two trips to New York state and Michigan, then 'the West,'" but the rocks and hills of New England possessed superior attraction for him. He busied himself in civic affairs, held the office of selectman, assessor, justice of the peace. Although in his early years he was a sincere believer in religious faith, and was an active Bible Class teacher in the Sunday School, yet he was over eighty years of age when he decided to ask for baptism and thus be made a member of the church. Enjoying perfect health from his childhood, never ailing so as to be confined to his bed, he at last succumbed to increasing years, and, as the oldest man in the town, departed "full of years."

He married (1) Abigail, daughter of Stephen and Lucy Holmes of Thompson, Conn.; she died there January 16, 1836; he married (2) Mrs. Salome (Joslin), widow of Benjamin Alton and a granddaughter of Zaccheus Ballard; Winthrop Hillard Ballard died August 2, 1894, and was buried in the Holmes Burying Ground in Thompson.

Child by first wife:

177. i. Horatio Nelson[7] Ballard, born in Thompson, June 10, 1827; married Mary C. Sims.

Children by the second wife:

178. ii. Stephen[7] Ballard, born April 9, 1841.
179. iii. Julia Augusta[7] Ballard, born September 13, 1843.
180. iv. John Winthrop[7] Ballard, born March 1, 1847.

82. VALENTINE[6] BALLARD, son of Lynde[5] (Zaccheus,[4] William,[3] Nathaniel,[2] William[1]) and Polly (Bates) Ballord, was born at Dudley, Mass., January 24, 1804. He officiated as a deacon in the Baptist Church of Thompson more than fifty years, and was prominent in all town affairs; was sent as representative from Thompson to the General Assembly in 1850 as a member of the Free Soil party. He married (1) March 25, 1830, Achsah, daughter of John and Sophia (Carroll) Joslin, his "first cousin once removed"; she was born August 31, 1807, died April 13, 1878; he married (2), when in his eighty-first year, Ellen Holmes; she died at Putnam, Conn., November 24, 1901; he died at Thompson, January 7, 1898. The following notice of his decease appeared in the Hartford, Conn., Times: "Last of an ancient family. In Thompson, this afternoon, occurred the funeral of Deacon Valentine Ballard, the oldest resident of Thompson and the last of the old Ballard family which has, for nearly a century, been prominent in that section."

199. vi. Arthur Scott Winfield[7] Ballard, born December 29, 1865; married June 12, 1889, Bertha Finn, died December 23, 1890.

87. ZACCHEUS A.[6] BALLARD, son of Lynde[5] (Zaccheus,[4] William,[3] Nathaniel,[2] William[1]) and Amy (Green) Ballord, was born at Thompson, Conn., January 21, 1822. When he was eight years old, he went to make his home with his half brother, Valentine, where he remained until he was sixteen, when he became a clerk at Hezekiah Olney's store; from there, he was at a livery stable with Vernon Styler, where he acquired that knowledge of men and horses which served him so well all his years. He could instantly recall the countenance and name of almost every person with whom he had once been associated; after he had once driven a horse, he could recognize it whenever or wherever he met it afterwards, and this quick perception remained with him until age dulled his faculties. Almost every year he went to Vermont to buy a "shipment of horses," always styled a horse dealer, never a horse jockey; whatever statement he made in regard to an animal was always what he himself believed, and "he generally knew the truth about a horse." As time went on, he became a dealer in cattle, as well as horses, and also "traded in farms." No matter what his possessions were, he was always ready to sell, whenever any good offer was made. For several terms, he became a manager of the Poor Farms at Oxford, Mass., and at Putnam, Conn.

He married, November 26, 1843, Mary Ann Whitney; she was born March 2, 1823, at Petersham, Mass., died October 10, 1900; he died September 24, 1897.

They had children:

202. iii. Noel Oscar[7] Ballard, born at Putnam, July 1, 1854; married Abbie Holmes Chandler.

88. Elizabeth[6] Ballard, daughter of Lynde[5] (Zaccheus,[4] William,[3] Nathaniel,[2] William[1]) and Amy (Green) Ballord, was born at Thompson, Conn., March 1, 1825. For many years she taught school, as did more than twenty-five of the descendants of her father. She married, April 9, 1850, Albertus Bruce, a farmer, horticulturist, botanist, poet, etc. They reside on their farm at Pomfret Landing, Conn., where in sound health they are now passing their octogenarian years.

Note.—It is somewhat notable that so many of Lynde Ballard's descendants spent and are spending a portion of their days as teachers. The writer has a record of at least twenty-six of them who have taught school, ranging from primary to high, including academic and seminary; among them are graduates of Harvard, Brown, Columbia, Wellesley, Colgate.

Prof. John Bates Clark of Columbia University, is also a descendant of Zaccheus Ballord, but not of Lynde, so is not in the above named twenty-six. Of teachers who may be descendants of Zaccheus and not of Lynde, Prof. Clark is the only one who has come to our notice.

When he was eleven years old, the family were removed to Schoolcraft, Wisconsin. He ardently desired to follow a collegiate course of study; when he was seventeen years of age he taught in a school and so earned money enough to enter the State University at Ann Arbor, but was not strong enough to continue, and feeble health forced him to leave before his second years' studies were concluded; but he persevered in study while he applied himself to business, in which "he was most successful, honored and trusted by all with whom he was associated. A friend said he was a gentleman of the old school, a sparkling and scholarly gentleman." He became a director of the Nassau Bank of New York, of the Brooklyn Savings Bank, of the Academy of Music, the Long Island Historical Society, of the Packer Collegiate Institute, when he founded a scholarship in memory of his daughter, Elizabeth Graham Bates, who, a "child of much promise," died at the age of sixteen; he was also a Trustee of the Church of the Pilgrim. He became a member of the Society of Colonial Wars, by his descent from Nathaniel Ballord, who served as a private in King Philip's war, in 1675–6.

He married (1), Oct. 15, 1856, at Schoolcraft, Ann Duncan; she died in Brooklyn, March 20, 1869; he married (2) in Beloit, Wis., October 25, 1871, Mary Elizabeth Field. She was a student at Bacon Academy, Colchester, Conn., and, for a period, taught school. As her mother and her sister Mary were confirmed invalids, she devoted herself to a tender care for them, placing her home duties before all others. Her unselfish life has been spent in good deeds for her family, her church and for many others. She still remains in the home, which she has cherished and protected for some seventy years.

166. Esek[7] Steere Ballord, son of Rev. John[6] Bates (Lynde,[5] Zaccheus,[4] William,[3] Nathaniel,[2] William[1]) and Augusta Maria (Gilman) Ballard, was born in Bloomfield, Conn., July 26, 1830. He was a student in Bacon Academy, Colchester, Conn., thence went to Hartford, Conn., where he was trained as a druggist; thence he went to New York City, where he became an apothecary for a Charitable Institution for two years. From there he made his way to Cleveland, Ohio, still in the druggists business; finally settling in Davenport, Iowa, in the same avocation, pursuing it for the long duration of forty-five years "without change of location," first in the firm of Taylor & Ballord, until Mr. Taylor retired. Several years later the firm name was changed to E. S. Ballord & Co., by the admission of his cousin, John W. Ballard. Esek Steere Ballord retired from this company in 1903, when it was continued by John W. Ballard and his son, Harry Ballard, in the firm name of The Ballard Drug & Dental Company. After retiring from the concern, Mr. Ballord "busied himself in the management of a farm, since the United States Census

Department states that any one who cultivates at least three acres of land is a farmer, and this measure is exceeded by the estate at Davenport, Mr. Ballord classes himself under that designation.

He is a charter member of the Society of the Sons of Revolution in Iowa, of the Society of Colonial Wars, one of the founders of the Runnemede; is a resident member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, of the Davenport Academy of Science; is one of the Trustees for the C. C. Cook Home for the Friendless. He became a life member of the American Sunday School Union when but five years of age.

He married, September 4, 1862, Frances A., daughter of Zerah Webb, and a descendant in the eighth generation from Christopher Webb of Braintree, Mass. She is, also, in the seventh generation of descent from Henry Adams, of Braintree, and Quincy, Mass., who was the ancestor of the presidents, John and John Quincy Adams, also Samuel Adams. She became a member of the Society of the Mayflower and the Colonial Dames, through her descent from Governor William Bradford and John Alden.

They had children:

278. i. Katherine[8] Augusta Ballord, born in Davenport, August 5, 1864; married Leon Menard Allen.

279. ii. Bessie[8] Webb Ballord, born in Davenport, November 19, 1866. She was graduated by Wellesley College in the class of 1887; spent two years in study on the Continent, became a teacher and is, at present, an instructor of German in the High School in Keokuk, Iowa; is a life member of the Davenport Academy of Science.

280. iii. Belle[8] Ballord, born September 16, 1868; married Jennis Brock Richardson.

281. iv. John[8] Gilman Ballord, born June 7, 1870; married Marie Cooper Adams.

167. Mary Carolina[7] Ballard, daughter of John Bates and Augusta Maria (Gilman) Ballard, was born at Oak Forest, North Carolina, February 28, 1836; came to Colchester, Conn., in the second year of her age. She was a student at Bacon Academy and York Square Seminary, New Haven, Conn. She was gifted with a brilliant mind, which with a literary and artistic bias, promised a useful future; but prostrated by a spinal disease, her intellectual activity was clouded by more than thirty years of intense suffering patiently and cheerfully endured until her mortal life closed on May 17, 1898.

168. Katharine Augusta,[7] daughter of John Bates and Augusta Maria (Gilman) Ballard), was born at Colchester, Conn., August 31, 1846. She married James U. Taintor and died, childless, September 5, 1875; he married (2) Miss Spencer, in Hartford, Conn., where he died April 13, 1907, aged 62 years.

JOHN FRANCIS[8] TOURTELLOTTE, son of Munroe Lynde[7] (Jacob and Polly[6] Ballord, Lynde,[5] Zaccheus,[4] William,[3] Nathaniel,[2] William[1]) and Louisa (Mills) Tourtellotte, was born at West Salem, Wisconsin, February 3, 1858. He was graduated by the University of Wisconsin, and is now settled in the practice of law at Denver, Colorado. He married, May 20, 1886, Edna R., daughter of Joseph and Lucretia Powers; she was born January 27, 1861.

They had children:

374. i. Louise L.[9] Tourtellotte, born June 27, 1887.

375. ii. Frances[9] Tourtellotte, born September 3, 1890.

376. iii. Margaret[9] Tourtellotte, born December 2, 1893.

294. NEWTON ALLEN[8] BALLARD, son of Stephen[7] (Winthrop[6] Hilton and Mrs. Salome (Joslin–Alton) Ballard, Lynde,[5] Zaccheus,[4] William,[3] Nathaniel,[2] William[1]) and Sarah (Day–Barber) Ballard, was born November 19, 1863; he married September 20, 1893, Carrie E. Clark.

They had:

377. Stanton Wallace[9] Ballard, born August 19, 1902.

295. ALICE MARION[8] BALLARD, daughter of Stephen[7] (Winthrop[6] Hilton, Lynde,[5] Zaccheus,[4] William,[3] Nathaniel,[2] William[1]) and Sarah Day (Barber) Ballard, was born December 8, 1865. She married, October 21, 1890, William Cranska; they both were killed in a railroad accident, January 24, 1892.

297. LAURA CORINNE[8] BALLARD, daughter of Stephen[7] (Winthrop[6] Hilton, Lynde,[5] Zaccheus,[4] William,[3] Nathaniel,[2] William[1]) and Sarah Day (Barber) Ballard, was born October 16, 1874. She married, June 1, 1899, Newton S. Child.

They had:

378. Ruth Ardelle[9] Child, born September 18, 1902.

303. HARRY WINTHROP[8] BALLARD, son of John[7] Winthrop (Winthrop[6] Hilton, Lynde,[5] Zaccheus,[4] William,[3] Nathaniel,[2] William[1]) and Martha A. (Blackmar) Ballard, was born at Davenport, Iowa, September 25, 1873. He was a student at the public schools of Davenport; was at the Pharmacy Department of the State University of Iowa, receiving the degree of Ph.C. in 1896. He now is the manager of the Ballard Drug and Dental Company, which was established in 1857 by Esek Steere Ballord with the firm name of Taylor & Ballord. Mr. Taylor retired in 1870. The firm name was continued as E. S. Ballord until 1871, when Mr. John Ballard was admitted, and the partnership was continued as the E. S. Ballord & Co. until 1903, when E. S. Ballord retired. Thus this business remained in one family for fifty years, and, it is hoped, will so continue for the coming one hundred years. Harry Winthrop Ballard married at Davenport, September 9, 1902, Nettie Olivia Monk.

They had:

379. Richard Winthrop[9] Ballard, born February 19, 1904.

APPENDIX.

BALLARD REUNIONS.

THE reunions of the direct descendants of Zaccheus[4] and Lynde[5] Ballard have become such a prominent feature in their history that, at the request of the author of this volume, I give a little sketch of them.

January 1, 1888, at a reception given by Stephen Ballard and wife at their 25th anniversary, at which time a goodly number of the Ballards were present, the remark was made by Sarah Ballard Spaulding, and warmly seconded by Salem Ballard, that it seemed so good to see so many Ballards all together, and so full of pleasure and enjoyment, that we ought to get together somewhere when it was warm weather and hold a grand Ballard picnic. This thought was so warmly applauded by all present that a committee appointed one to be held August 15, 1888, in Elliott's Grove, in Thompson.

The occasion was all that could be desired. Over one hundred were present. From Dudley, Woodstock, Pomfret, Putnam, Dayville, Thompson, Davenport, Ia., and Memphis, Tenn., came representatives of the Ballards.

A history of the Ballards from William[1] of Lynn, born Sanford Priors, Warwickshire, England, baptized August 13, 1603, to the present time, taken largely from a report of E. S. Ballord of Davenport, Ia., was prepared and read by Stephen Ballard.

The occasion seemed to call for something more permanent, and an organization was formed with the provision that we should meet biennially as near the middle of August as possible.

Samuel Spaulding was elected president, Newton Ballard secretary and treasurer, William Converse elected collector, and Stephen Ballard historian.

The plates used at dinner on this occasion were all printed "Ballard Reunion, Elliott's Grove, Aug. 15, 1888." "Keep your record clean." This motto has been permanently adopted, and we are most happy to say that it has been faithfully kept. And it is also reported that as yet none of the Ballards have been obliged to go "over the hills to the poorhouse," unless it was to make it profitable.

At this meeting the seven oldest Ballards, children of Lynde, were present, namely, Winthrop, Valentine, Hamilton, Salem, Zaccheus, Sarah, and Elizabeth. But two of them are living at present.

After the second meeting, in 1890, it was voted to hold the reunions yearly instead of biennially, and the place of meeting was soon changed to Nichols' Grove, where they have been held ever since.

Quite a number of interesting events have occurred in the eighteen years, which, had we space, we would like to report. I will refer to only one or two.

The first one, because it has money in it.

The historian, Mrs. Clarance Nash, in her report for the year, spoke of the unkempt condition of the Bates Cemetery, so-called, where lie buried the remains of Zaccheus and Lynde Ballord, and suggested that a fund be raised, the income of which to perpetually keep these plots in better condition. This was highly approved of, and a good sum was immediately contributed, the income of which will be sufficient to always keep their graves in good condition. Samuel Spaulding was appointed fund agent. The money he soon deposited in the Putnam Savings Bank.

I am glad to report that the plots of Zaccheus and Lynde Ballord have been spaded up, reseeded, and indeed all the headstones and markers in Bates Cemetery have been reset and straightened.

BALLARD REUNION, 1903.

In 1901, the historian, M. Helen Converse, was requested to compile the reports for the last twelve years, tabulating the births, deaths, and marriages, with the dates of each given correctly, which she did, giving 68 births, 37 deaths, and 37 marriages. All were so highly pleased with this report and with its value for future reference, that it was immediately voted to have this report, together with the first report in 1888, and some incidents in other reports, printed in pamphlet form. Three hundred copies were printed, and over 250 of these have been distributed.

These annual reunions have become such an interesting feature that they are anxiously looked forward to by both old and young; and in numbers and interest increase each year.

STEPHEN BALLARD,
Secretary.

Page 51. No. 350. For Oneto, read Oneonto.

The Ballards of the sixth generation and their descendants used the early form of Ballard with the exception of Mr. Esek Steere Ballord, who, with his immediate family, spelled it with an "o," so adopting the form used by Zaccheus Ballord. These two forms were intended to be strictly followed in this monograph, and where there are deviations they were not noticed until too late to change them.
